

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The addition of a steel and titanium carbide mixture is laser melted on a steel surface in air or in a shielding gas having a significant nitrogen content. The resulting steel surface has improved hardness and bead shape.